

Career and Life Coach Offers Individual Consultations and Hiring Solutions for Employers as Well!

Janet Fagan, M. Ed., ACC, JCTC, a certified life, career /transition and business coach offers realistic, just-in-time coaching and flexible plans tailored to her clients' individual needs. She works with a variety of clients, including those interested in personal life coaching, career transition and the job search, as well as those individuals experiencing mid-life and retirement transitions. She helps clients to find their way via identification of key values, a focus on goal setting, and active steps which create results, personal satisfaction and successful outcomes.

With over 18 years experience in human resources, employee performance and development, as well as career transition, Janet has counseled adult students returning to college to pursue a degree and worked extensively with the U. S. Military, Department of Labor, universities and counselors in the application of career development assessment tools and software.

Janet has worked with a leading-edge human resources consulting firm, advising employers on hiring utilizing the statistically proven, effective Caliper assessment which can play a key role in hiring the right person for the job. In addition to coaching services, Janet has added another service to her practice. She is offering assessment tools and personal consultation related to hiring practices for business owners and organizations. She also continues to offer consulting services to employers who seek to improve their recruiting and hiring process and can provide consultation on team building and enhancing employee performance.

Janet has held the role of director for several large corporate career centers, providing services for corporate employees in transition. She has recently consulted with the Impact Group career transition firm, working with clients such as: CIGNA, General Motors, Johnson & Johnson, Monster.com, Verizon and the United States Military.

Janet is a member of Northern Arizona Business Women, (NAWBO), International Coach Federation, Career Management Alliance, Career and Adult Development Network and the National Resume Writers' Association. She has served on the boards of the Sedona Arts Center, Sedona Women and the Sedona Community Foundation and remains an avid supporter of several. Janet and her husband have been key supporters of the Hopi Tewa Elder Project as well as mentor/sponsors for several Native American children as part of the Futures for Children non-profit organization, Albuquerque, NM.

Janet draws upon her extensive and varied background to offer state-of-the art coaching and assistance to those seeking clarity, focus and a meaningful life. In addition, she offers employers innovative tools to improve the hiring process. For more information, visit: www.fagancoaching.com.
